CITY APPROVES $7,000 PROJECT FOR SEWERLINE

The City Council Tuesday approved a $7,000 sewerline project in West Cameron and the same $160 per $100 valuation.

Eighteen property owners have signed contracts and paid $34 each for new service along one of the longest sewerline extensions proposed in recent years. Estimated cost of the new line is $7,002 but the number of homes and businesses will far exceed the starting number when lateral extensions are tied in, City - Sec. John Andres said.

Profiles have been completed on this sewerline route:

From West Main St. to Colfax Avenue, on to West Sixth St., then east on Sixth to Vogelsang, south on Vogelsang to the project's end.

Following first reading of tax rate ordinance, Councilmen voted to keep the $1.60 per $100 valuation for the 1962 - 63. Mayor Coleman Duncum is beginning budget studies for review by Council members and public hearing prior to final approval by October 1.

In other action, Councilmen approved two more blocks of paving on E. 12th St. and North Washington between E. 15th and E. 16th St.

And Lee Street, east of Ben Milam School, will be one-way only during the hours of 7:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. Previously, the street was one way only.

The State Highway Department requested in a letter to the Council that the spotlight at the corner of W. Fourth St. and North Travis (US 77 - SH 36) be changed to correspond with requirements of the Highway Department.

Moore Wins Agent's Award

COLLEGE STATION — J. D. Moore, Milam county agricultural agent since January 1949, was one of six Texans named today to receive the National County Agricultural Agents Association's highest recognition — their Distinguished Service Award.

He was nominated by the Texas Association and confirmation from the national group was announced by Herman R. Lynch, Bowie county agent and chairman of the Texas Awards Committee.

Others named to the outstanding honor were Lee Roy Colgan, Dawson county; R. A. Rabroker, Dallas county; E. J. Harrison, Jr., Ward County; L. L. Bennett, Live Oak County and D. P. Pawlik, San Patricio and Aransas counties.

The awards are made annually to a select group of county agents who have over a period of years made outstanding contributions to agriculture and rural living in the counties where they have served.

Presentation of the awards is always a highlight of the National Association's annual meeting which will be held this year at New Mexico State University, August 26-30.

Moore was first employed by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in June 1945 as county agent in Limestone county. In February 1947 he was transferred to the same position in Lampasas county and to his present position two years later. He taught vocational agriculture for nine years before joining the Extension Service.

The award winner's citation reads: "For contributions made to the establishment of a swine industry as a source of additional income in his county and for leadership in the development and organization of a three-county DHIA, and for the supervision of numerous successful result demonstrations in many different agricultural phases. Also for outstanding results in 4-H Club work, especially in the training of several state winning poultry judging teams."

During his tenure in Milam county, Moore is credited with providing the leadership which resulted in the development of a graded egg marketing program. Poultrymen of the county have received $750,000 in additional income as a result of the program during the past seven years. Two graded egg buying stations are now operating in the county.

Milam county is fast becoming a major swine feeding area as a result of the county's swine program. Five established breeders now operate in the county as a direct result of the 4-H swine program. Both adults and 4-H members participate in the county-wide program which the awardee supervises.

Moore was a prime mover in the organization of a three-county dairy herd improvement association that now has a full time supervisor and 300 cows on test. The Blackland Income Growth program has been inaugurated with a 15-man committee representing all segments of industry and agriculture directing the effort.

Result demonstrations in the county include soil fertility, insect control, improved cultural methods, use of improved crop varieties and hybrids, mechanical harvesting of crops and many others. A county pecan and food show has resulted from plans made by the county horticultural committee.

The 4-H program Moore has supervised has produced state winners in the Broiler Festival, Hybrid Corn & Grain Sorghum Production programs, and calf breed champions. His success as coach of county poultry judging teams is outstanding. No Moore coached team has placed lower than second in the state contest since 1957 and three have been state winners.

Moore has taken an active interest in developing farm organization leaders and membership is high. The awards winner makes liberal use of the mass media outlets in his county to make his work more effective. He takes an active interest in civic affairs and works closely with organizations, agencies and groups in promoting worthwhile projects.

The Taylor County native holds both bachelor and master degrees from Texas A & M College with majors in agricultural education. He has served the Texas Association as a director and a member of important committees. He is a Mason and a Lions Club member.

MEDICAL GROUP PLANS CENTERS FOR 22,000

A mass polio oral inoculation of Milam Countians is scheduled at centers in Cameron and Rockdale for six hours Sunday, September 9.

A three-man committee of the Milam Medical Society has named Bill Burns, Cameron businessman, as administrative co-ordinator of the one-day free clinic.

Dr. C. G. Swift, Dr. E. O. Smith, Jr., and Dr. S. H. Richardson, all of Cameron met last Friday to draw up plans for the mass Sabin oral inoculation, tying in Milam County with Bell, Robertson and other neighboring counties planning similar programs. Barleson County held a one-day drive last week.

IN BOTH TOWNS

The oral polio vaccine will be dispensed by pharmacists in Rockdale and Cameron and administered by volunteer nurses in both communities. Milam doctors will supervise the program.

Both Milam towns will have inoculation centers at schools or similar public places. Three are planned for the Cameron and North Milam area and three for Rockdale and the South Milam area. All rural residents are asked to get their Sabin vaccine in Cameron or Rockdale centers.

Additional information will be made available by a publicity committee of Eugene Smitherman, Lois Sapp and Patsy Matula to all news media in the Milam County area.

No one will be turned away, officials said, though a 25 cent or more donation will be requested to defray cost of the vaccine. The same system has been followed in Dallas and Harris Counties where up to 90 per cent of the residents of those metropolitan areas received the Sabin oral vaccine.

The Sabin vaccine is taken orally. It is dispensed over a cube of sugar, making it a pleasant way to receive the vaccine.

MORE THAN 22,000

There will be no makeups in Milam County, medical officials said. They are hoping to reach all of Milam's 22,000 plus population in the six-hour program September 9. The vaccine will be given from noon to 6 p. m. that day.

Official registration blanks will be published in editions of The Herald prior to mass inoculation. They may be filled out in advance to speed processing of all Countians. About a million Houstonians took the oral vaccine two weeks ago, a record mass inoculation turnout for Texas and one of the largest single turnouts for a single public health program in the U. S.

The September 9 program will be the first mass inoculation attempt in the history of Milam County.

6 Grass Fires

Bring Warnings

Six brush fires in Cameron and nearby communities brought warnings from Cameron Fire Dept. officials this week.

The six brush or grass fires occurred Monday and Tuesday.

Fire Marshal John Eanes urged rural property owners to plow a fire lane between their land and state and county roads because of cigarettes tossed from passing autos. And he cautioned Cameron residents about burning trash in vacant fields or near their homes.

The hot dry spell continued another full week with peak temperatures going above the 100 mark. Cameron fire trucks went to rush fires in Milam and Pettit Monday and Tuesday. Four calls Tuesday brought firemen to North Houston Ave. twice and behind Lehnert Drug one time and behind the Dr. W. R. Newton residence, North Jackson, another.

6 Years In The Pen

Soldier Guilty Of Murder

A 12-man Milam District petit jury found Pvt. Joe Kellough, 24, Negro of Btry A, 6th Artillery, Fort Hood, guilty of murder with malice and sentenced him to six years at Huntsville's State Penitentiary.

He was convicted of the murder of William Samuel Swain, 21, Negro of 1102 W. 10th St., who died of a gunshot wound during a double shooting March 31 in Cameron.

Defense attorneys did not appeal the decision.

Testimony from Dorothy Lemons, 26, Negro of 705 North Scott, and Robert Lee Melton, 37, Negro of Rt. 1, Milam, as well as the defendant, Kellough, developed the following story, which ended in the death of Swain and the wounding of Melton.

ARGUMENT EARLIER

An argument, not involving Kellough, started in the Wagon Wheel, a colored bar, between Melton and Miss Lemons. Later Kellough's companion, Pvt. Willie Hawkins of the same Fort Hood unit, Miss Lemons and Kellough were walking toward her house on North Scott when Melton and Swain drove up. Melton succeeded in getting the 26-year-old woman in the car, driving on another block up Scott Street near her house. There, Hawkins tried to separate the two while Kellough looked on.

Kellough testified that in front of the Lemons house Hawkins looked as if he was losing out in trying to separate Melton and Miss Lemons.

Kellough said he thought Melton was reaching for a weapon in his clothing and fired two quick shots hitting Swain who was standing by the car, and grazing Melton in the neck.

Miss Lemons' testimony said she did not see a weapon on Melton after she kept a knife belonging to him (Melton) prior to the incident which ended in the double shooting.

ARRESTED IN KILLEEN

Kellough and Hawkins left the scene of the shooting and were later picked up in Killeen.

In jail since March 31, Kellough told jurors he "was intendin' to do somethin' to him (Melton) before he did somethin' to me because I was afraid."

Kellough testified he did not aim at Swain, but at Melton. Swain died four hours later of the 22-caliber gunshot wound.

Dist. Atty. Jack Prescott closed his argument on a review of undisputed testimony of both prosecution and defense witnesses and asked the jury to return a guilty verdict and a long prison sentence for Kellough.

Defense attorneys John Henderson, Jr. and Bob Burleson continued to build their case on a self-defense argument in closing statements. The case went to the jury 5:30 p. m. Thursday. The jury then came in with a verdict about 1 p. m. Friday.

Sentence was pronounced and read in a session later in the afternoon and Kellough was taken to Huntsville.

Studies Made On Harvest, Ginning Of Texas Cotton

COLLEGE STATION — Shifts in the cotton producing areas of Texas and changes in harvesting methods have greatly affected investments in gins, according to Progress Report 2233 of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

The report shows that the Blacklands and East Texas have shown the greatest decreases and the High Plains the largest increase in cotton production. The area with great declines in production have had opportunities for expanded investment in gins, the report explains.

Cotton harvesting has almost completely shifted from hand picking to hand snapping and mechanical harvesting and thus has created a greater need for cleaning devices in the gin to handle this cotton. This additional equipment has increased the investment that a gin owner must make, the report continues.

There are wide differences in the amount of cotton each gin handles and in the areas of falling production they are not handling enough cotton to be economical, the report points out. The gins in the Blacklands and East Texas are not being fully utilized as are the gins in the High Plains.

These preliminary studies show that model gin plants should be developed as a guide for installing and remodeling gins to get the most efficient operation under different conditions and in different areas of the state.

For details on the effects of the changing cotton picture on the gin operations of Texas write the Agricultural Information Office, College Station and request a copy of Progress Report 2233.

COTTON REPORT

AUSTIN, Tex. — Cotton is beginning to pop open. Picking is running a little ahead of earlier estimates. Gins are operating around the clock in some communities. Local classing office receipts are increasing rapidly. Receipts jumped from 333 samples on July 27 to 290 on July 30 and have been increasing daily. Ginning is expected to start in a big way in the Brazos and Navasota bottoms by August 6. Some immature bolls have been damaged because of lack of moisture. There was not any rain during the entire month of July. Hot, dry weather with temperatures around 100 degrees each day pretty well has the insect problem under control. Market activity is slow at this time. Seed prices range from $46.00 per ton in the Winter Garden area to $50.00 in the upper Coastal Bend.

Moisture is plentiful in most of North Texas and Oklahoma. Recent rains have dumped from 10 to 15 inches of water on those sections. In south central and southern Texas moisture is scarce. Many localities have just experienced the driest July of the century.

Trading in new crop cotton continues but at a slower pace and at cheaper prices. Prices on the Harlingen and Corpus Christi markets are off somewhat from last week. Prices offered are above CCC loan prices. Farmers are not selling freely at prices offered in the Coastal Bend section. Prices are off 35 points and 25, respectively, at Dallas and Lubbock from last week.

amount of alcohol, bring the worms to the county agents office, ask for a ready stamped bottle and container for sending the worms in for identification purposes.

This cooperation on the part of stockmen help locate where the worms are working and serves as a guide for releasing the sterile male flies used to combat the screwworm problem.

BRUCELLOSIS
Brucellosis in cattle will continue to cut into profits until stockmen decide they want to do something about the problem.

Petitions were circulated in the county through community chairmen last spring in an effort to get 75 per cent of the cattlemen owning 51 per cent of the cattle to sign a petition necessary for the Texas Animal Health Commission to assist with the disease.

Community committeemen who have these petitions are: Joe Martin, Milam; Brown Ely, Gause; Herbert Fieseler, Rockdale; Edwin Fuessel, Thorndale; Calvin Shenkir, Buckholts; Dowell Hailey, Briary; Baileyville; John S. Batte and Bill Arthur, Cameron area. Vocational agricultural teachers have agreed to help in their community.

Type II Program calls for testing all dairy and purebred cattle and 20 per cent of all other cattle in each herd over 3 years of age. Certification if not more than 1 per cent of the area cattle and not more than 5 per cent of herds react positive to a re-test. What do you stockmen want to do?

BEEF PRICE

Many factors affect the price producers receive for beef cattle. The slaughter rate, however, is the most important single factor and exerts the greatest pressure on beef cattle prices, says John McHaney, extension economist.

Factors Studied On Cattle Prices

COLLEGE STATION — Many factors affect the price producers receive for beef cattle. The slaughter rate, however, is the most important single factor and exerts the greatest pressure on beef cattle prices, says John McHaney, extension economist.

The rate of slaughter is determined by the size of the nation's cow herd at the beginning of the year, size of the calf crop, range conditions, number of cattle fed and marketed and liquidation of cattle numbers. Total production of red meat — beef, pork, lamb and mutton — is also an important pricing factor, he says.

In order to show what happens to beef prices under a given set of conditions, McHaney has made a study of price change over the past six years — 1956 over the period received by average price for all calves.

On January 1, 1956 the nation's beef herd numbered 95.9 million head. A calf crop was produced and the number of the worst long-run calves continued. A record number of 40.8 million cattle and calves were slaughtered. Calf prices dropped to an average of $12.40 per hundredweight in December 1956.

Greatly improved range conditions in 1957 slowed slaughter, especially in the late months of the year. The nation's cow herd was smaller and fewer calves were produced and total red meat production was down from the previous year by 4 per cent. Demand for restocking animals and for feeders was strong and high consumer income also helped push prices from $14.70 in January to $20.50 in December.

Numbers on January 1, 1958 were again below year earlier figures and the nation's calf crop was also down. Cattle and calf slaughter was down 13.5 percent from 1957; range conditions were the best in years; total red meat production was the lowest since 1954 and a build-up in cattle numbers started. Prices reached $26.60 in December. (Average price for all calves.)

Cattle and calf numbers stood at 93.3 million head on January 1, 1959 — up 2.1 million from a year earlier. The build-up was gaining steam; slaughter was down 7 percent but total beef and veal production was up slightly due to heavy feed cattle marketings in the later part of the year. Total red meat production was second only to record 1956. Prices reacted to the pressure and dropped from $28.60 in March to $21.60 in December.

The price decline continued into 1960. The year started with 96.2 million head, up 2.9 million from 1959. Total red meat production was up 3.3 percent and beef and veal 8 percent. The number of cattle and calves on feed July 1 in 21 major states was up 4 percent and total slaughter from August-November was up 14 percent over the same period in 1959. Calf prices dropped to $18.50 in October but a mild reduction in feed cattle marketings in the last 2 months of 1960 and fairly good wheat grazing kept many calves off the market. Prices reacted and rose to $22 in December.

REPORT CHANGED

The first major change in the 42-year-old weekly cotton market review of Texas and Oklahoma trading has been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Emphasis has been shifted from the national regional level to the local markets in line with general trade practices. A Need For 'Discordance'...

India, once the land of pacifist negotiation, seems to declare her independence of the West in current negotiations with Russia to buy MIG-21's, descendants of the fighter jets used against U. S. forces in Korea 10 years ago.

Ghandi, perhaps, would be turning in his marble-covered grave at the thought of armaments from Russia. But he should have already spun himself a bit after the Indian grab of Portuguese Goa.

Prime Minister Nehru continues to tread the thin line of "neutrality" while official Indian actions step heavily beyond democracy to Red support. Key to this cadence is Indian UN Ambassador Menon who disfavours Americans in favor of the Reds, but who accepts U. S. aid when India can get it.

The realities are that India is becoming more aware of her nationalism, after 15 years without British mandate. Brightly marked as a coming democracy, her starving millions create the monstrous problem of ignorance amidst freedom. To assert herself, India now heads for aid from Russia, including facilities to manufacture the planes in India.

Such agreements are like those made between Cuba and the Soviet bloc. Whenever Red materials are used, it is inevitable that trade negotiations begin. While it has been a "pouring in" of American aid, it appears the "pouring out" of Indian trade will be to the East.

President Kennedy has been increasingly disturbed by the play of West against East while US funds continue to flow into dozens of "neutral" nations, wire reports say. We should think so.

We suggest that the check book be taken from the State Department and placed back in the hands of the American people. Then when a democracy such as India decides to trade with Russia, we could sever an umbilical cord which is being neatly tied around our throats.

When 'Elsewhere' And Cameron Meet...

Last week's Herald contained several front page stories about former Cameron residents who have scored successes in their fields.

Medals, better jobs, professional prestige come their way.

In reflection, we find innumerable people who have left this Milam community and rated kudos for their efforts as militarymen, executives, professionals, et al.

We do not envy them their success, wishing only that they could have had opportunity to apply it in Central Texas.

What are we doing about the departure of our young people? Many businesses are employing youngsters out of high school in summer jobs and permanent posts, which is highly commendable.

Our main concern should be getting something in the Cameron vicinity that will employ more of their talents and bring back some of those skills learned by our graduates and applied elsewhere.

It's old hash to say that an area cannot continue to expend its best ammunition on somebody else's targets. And that is what we do when we send our kids to school in hopes they will do better than we did, elsewhere.

For somebody, somewhere, Cameron is "elsewhere." But we have to create some movement, some greater rapport with these other "elsewheres" if we are to have reason and the kudos to offer.

It is quite simple: "The mountain does not come to us." The Herald writes about youngsters every week who "go to the mountain" and climb.

35th Anniversary Cited For Greer

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — Lt. Gov. Culp Krueger, democratic nominee John Connally and dozens of other state officials and prominent Texans turned out at the monthly meeting of the State Highway Commission to pay tribute to State Highway Engineer Dewitt C. Greer on his 35th anniversary with the highway department.

Commissioners Herb Petry Jr. of Carrizo Springs, Hal Woodward of Coleman and Charles F. Hawn of Athens were among those making complimentary speeches. Hawn stated that he had known Greer ever since the highway engineer began his career in Athens. His and Greer's association was unique, said Hawn, since he was the groom and Greer the bride when the two took part in a "womanless wedding" in Athens about 40 years ago.

VETERANS' INSURANCE TOLD
Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler announced that the Veterans' Land Board had concluded preliminary arrangements to provide group creditors life insurance for some 30,000 veterans who have purchased land under the state's $200,000,000 program.

Great American Reserve Life Insurance Company of Dallas will be the insurer if the Texas Insurance Commission approves the plan. Sadler said the plan is to guarantee full ownership of land to a veteran's widow or heirs at modest annual premiums.

Land board will send details to veterans included in the program when it is fully authorized. BIG SCHOOLS "COOL"

Mass air conditioning programs at the University of Texas and Texas A & M College will account for seven per cent of the $28,767,000 of state funds earmarked for construction in the year starting September 1.

Money to air condition old classroom and lab buildings on the Austin and College Station campuses comes out of revenue from University Permanent Fund investments, as does all the $15,539,683 to be used for new buildings, renovation and additions at the two schools next year.

Air conditioning projects at the University include the chemical engineering building; Garrison Hall; Sutton Hall and T. U. Taylor Hall engineering building.

A & M plans to air condition its agricultural building; animal industries building; biological sciences building; chemical building; engineering building; Francis Hall; and physics buildings.

DANIEL NAMES APPOINTEES
Gov. Price Daniel named new board members for three of the state's 19 colleges and universities.

Ennis Favors of Stephenville, a former state representative, was named to the Board of Regents of Texas Woman's University; and Jack Hughes of Abilene to the Board of Regents of Midwestern University. Charles D. Mathews of Dallas will succeed Jim Lindsey of Midland as a director of Texas Technological College.

Governor Daniel also appointed Rev. J. W. Moore of Ballinger and Claude K. Robinson of Vernon to the interim house committee to study salt water pollution to the soil and surface water of Texas. STATE LAUNCHES

RAMP PROJECT

Texas Highway Commission has approved a $113,000 program to build 25 public boat ramps throughout the state. Money is surplus from boat registration fees collected under the Texas Water Safety Act.

Each boat ramp project also will include a parking area, access road, incinerator, landscaping, etc.

Sites were selected on the basis of the water area to be served and the number of registration fees paid in the area.

In the 1963 water sports season, ramps will be ready at: Lake Tawakoni, Lake Bridgeport; Possum Kingdom State Park; Oak Creek Reservoir; the San Jacinto River; Clear Lake, Dickinson Bayou; and the San Bernard River.

Also Tres Palacios Creek; Turtle Creek; Indianola Roadside Park; Medina Lake; Copano Bay; the Nueces River; Corpus Christi Bay; Garza - Little Elm Reservoir; Prewitt's Lake; Caddo Lake State Park; Murvaul Reservoir; Pine Island Bayou; the Neches River; Taylor's Bayou; Arroyo Colorado; Llano Grande Lake and Lake Leon.

GINNING ACCIDENTS

Though the cotton ginning season is still young, reports of accidents are already coming in and will increase unless safety is made a regular part of the ginning operation, says B. G. Reeves, extension cotton ginning and mechanization specialist.

THE OLD PHILOSOPHER

Philosopher Claims Poll Showing

Opposition To Tax Cut In U. S. Was Taken In Europe

Dear editor:

I was out here on my Johnson grass farm yesterday afternoon under a tree not doing much of anything, in fact, I wasn't doing anything at all, according to some people's definition, although taking a nap can be as important as anything else, if it results in increased brain activity or a resurgence of physical activity, although neither one is necessary, taking a nap just to be taking a nap is good enough for me; at any rate I was sleeping satisfactorily with no purpose in mind when a newspaper blew over my face and I woke up clawing at it and dreaming I was drowning.

Since I was then fully awake and hadn't slept long enough to feel like working or thinking either, I opened the paper and read a while.

I skipped over the news of the major crises around the world, having found out long ago the best solution to a crisis is to stay completely ignorant of it, and was reading along on an inside page when I ran across an item that said a public opinion poll has just been completed showing 72 per cent of the people in the United States don't favor a tax cut at this time.

This is like saying 72 per cent of the farmers in a drought area aren't in favor of a rain.

What I believe is that the people running the poll got their wires crossed. They didn't take that poll in the United States. They took it in Europe. It's not hard to believe that 72 per cent of the people of Europe are opposed to a tax cut in the U. S. In fact it'd run closer to 100 per cent. I can't imagine a worse crisis in Europe than the threat of a tax cut in the United States.

Or, if the poll was conducted in this country, the clerks typed the question wrong, making it read not do you think we need a tax cut but do you think we're going to get one.

From my vast knowledge of what people think, based solely on how I feel, I would say that 72 per cent would like to have a tax cut but 99 per cent aren't counting on it. And for that one per cent counting on it, I'd recommend they hold back a little reserve, in case things don't work out.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

"The Big Catch"

With pole, line, hook, sinker and bait; plus the necessary "know how" and the exact place to go to "haul 'em in", he's equipped for the "catch". No wonder that he can smile!

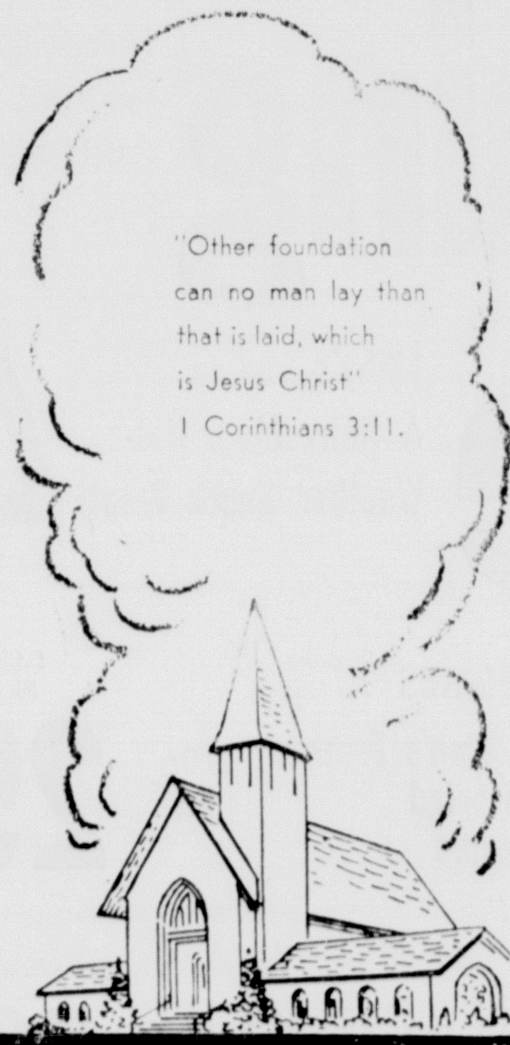

There's another kind of "catch" waiting for every person who will gather the necessary "equipment". It's the big catch of life-time happiness!

Equipment? Genuine faith in God; an abiding spirit of effectual good will toward all other human beings; a life dedicated to worthy purpose and fed with unceasing enthusiasm.

A "big order"? Certainly; and all of us need help to acquire it.

There's an institution—a divine institution—called the "church" that can assist us in obtaining and retaining these intangible values which are so essential to permanent wellbeing and happiness.

As we give ourselves to the church, the church gives to us; and the time comes when we experience the truth that "giving is getting" and "sharing is keeping". Then we know we have found the way. We know we have made the "big catch". Genuine happiness indwells and overflows.
